Program Description

This two-day summer institute and virtual follow-up sessions will help teacher-leaders establish productive group norms for ongoing teacher learning. Throughout the experience, participants will build a repertoire of strategies and facilitation techniques as well as deepen their own understanding of Mathematics Knowledge for Teaching. Participating teacher-leaders will receive support from the KCM to facilitate school-based professional learning experiences utilizing the KCM-developed modules outlined below. Two modules will be released as part of the summer experience. The remaining eight modules will be released one at a time during the online sessions.

Objectives of Program

Modules will be provided to participating teacher-leaders to use within their home school/district. Participating schools utilizing the modules will need to provide copies of the associated professional literature and session materials for teacher-participants.
